An ACT to compensate Cornelius Vanhorn, a Pennsylvania claimant of lands in Luzerne county.

WHEREAS Cornelius Vanhorn, a Pennsylvania claimant of lot number twenty, in the manor of Sunbury, in the county of Luzerne, has prosecuted his claim to the same by ejectment in the circuit court and supreme court of the United States, and has thereby established the title of this state to the lands in that county in opposition to what is called the Connecticut title or claim; and having afterwards as such claimant, brought an action against this commonwealth for the value of said land in the manner directed by law, the officers of the accountant department did not consider themselves authorized to pay the amount of the verdict rendered in favour of the said Vanhorn on the said suit, by reason of the sum valued to the Pennsylvania claimant, on the said lot being heretofore paid to the agent of the proprietors, by the officers of a former administration: For remedy thereof,
