

cate such excess insurance funds to the expense or other funds of the society, in accordance with its constitution and by-laws, but the amount so transferred in any calendar year shall not exceed five per cent of the [total premium income] contributions to the mortuary fund, exclusive of any receipts for disability or double indemnity, of such society during the next preceding calendar year. Any such society having admitted assets, as shown by its last annual statement filed with the Insurance Commissioner, in excess of one hundred per cent of its entire liabilities, including its required reserves computed on a net tabular basis, not lower than the American Experience Table of Mortality, with an interest rate of three and one-half per cent, may, in accordance with its constitution and by-laws, provide for the consolidation of its various funds and may report its transactions accordingly: Provided, That no expenses will be incurred that would impair the reserve base or bases which it is using. Except as herein otherwise allowed, every domestic society shall invest its funds only in securities and in the manner permitted by the laws of this Commonwealth for the investment of the funds of life insurance companies and in securities of Federal savings and loan associations, or of other institutions to the extent that such investment is guaranteed by the United States Government or any instrumentality thereof. Unless the approval of the Insurance *Commissioner shall be first obtained in writing, no domestic society shall keep or maintain, at a place outside this Commonwealth, any securities or other assets, except such as are necessary for the collection of current dues and to enable it to comply with the laws of any other state or foreign country for the purpose of transacting business therein.
